SENATOR PAT HARRISON CELEBRATES 60TH YEAR: 30 IN PUBLIC SERVICE

Has Been Member of Senate Since March 4, 1911—President Roosevelt Writes Personal Letter On His Selection To The Honor of President Pro Tempore Senate

Special Sea Coast Echo.
Washington, March 3.—When the United States Senate opens its daily session at noon tomorrow, Bryan Patton Harrison—Senator Pat—of Mississippi will round out his thirtieth consecutive year of service in Congress, a record equaled by no other Mississippian.
The distinguished Democratic stalwart who was recently elevated to President Pro Tempore of the Senate first took his oath in Congress on March 4, 1911, as a member of the House from the Gulf Coast District of Mississippi. Twenty-nine at the time, he was the "baby" member of the House in that, the Sixty-Second Congress.
His national career began when a Republican, William H. Taft, was president, and a Democrat, Champ Clark, of Missouri, was speaker of the House. Two of his colleagues in the Senate now are Robert Taft of Ohio, son of the late president, and Bennett Clark of Missouri, son of the late speaker.
As a member of the Senate since March 4, 1919, Senator Harrison ranks seventh in seniority in that body. The six who have served longer are Morris Sheppard of Texas, Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina, George W. Morris of Nebraska, Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, Hiram Johnson of California and Charles L. McNary of Oregon. Senator Smith is the dean in senatorial tenure, entering that body in 1909; Senator Sheppard is the dean of the entire Congress, entering the House in 1901 and serving continuously in both branches since.
Senator Morris has marked 38 years in both branches and Senator McKellar 28. In the House, Adolph T. Satchel of Illinois has served 34 years, and his 18th consecutive term; Edward T. Taylor of Colorado has served 32 years and has begun his 17th consecutive term and Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina has served 30 years and has begun his 16th consecutive term.
The political careers of Senator Harrison and Representative Doughton are similar in one respect. Both entered the House on the same day. Both have completed 30 years of continuous service; Senator Harrison in the House 8 years and in the Senate 22 and Mr. Doughton in the House 30 years.
And for the past eight years, both have been the "taxmasters" of their respective branches, with Senator Harrison chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and Mr. Doughton chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, the groups which determine the nation's tax program.
While not entering the Senate until 1919, Senator Harrison smilingly confesses that he began turning over the idea of a Senate campaign as early as 1913. At that time, he was successful in having President Wilson's journey to the Mississippi Coast for a short visit. Harrison, as the president's host, was jokingly nominated at a party by Dr. Cary Grayson, the president's physician, for United States Senator.
"That," the Senator says, "was all in fun at the time but it gave me my first definite notion to run for the Senate later on." His quest bore fruit in the summer of 1918 when he defeated James K. Vardaman, a Long dominant figure on the national scene, a party wheelerhorse and an invaluable aide of Democratic Presidents Wilson and Roosevelt. Senator Harrison's task the past few years has been not only to handle his own committee business, including revenue measures, but to bargain and maneuver for other party-sponsored legislation. At present, he is one of the Administration spokesmen in the drive for passage of the lend-lease or "aid to Britain" measure. A little later, he'll be wrestling with a new tax bill to help pay for the country's national defense program.

LEAVES FOR CAMP AT CHANUTE FIELD, ILLINOIS.
Eugene Mogabgab, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mogabgab, Sr., left on Friday for Chanutte Field, Illinois, where he will receive training in the Aviation Mechanics Corps of the United States Army, after having spent three weeks at Maxwell Field, near Montgomery, Alabama, undergoing the necessary tests which service men are given before being accepted in this branch of training.
Eugene is a graduate of Bay High School and enlisted for service in the army a short time ago, his ambition being to become a member of the aviation service and which department requires rigid physical and other tests, and he is extremely fortunate in having been accepted in this branch.

BEAVERS TURNED LOOSE

For Hancock County by State Fish and Game Commission—New Industry.

In order to stock the county marshes with beaver to establish the trapping and tanning business for local folk, the State Department of Conservation, through the instrumentality of Commissioner W. H. Starr, let go the ten heavier animals in the waters and marshes at the head waters of Jordan river this week.
There are four males and six females, and trappers and others are warned to keep out of this territory for the time being.
These beaver animals were released by State Game and Fish Commissioner W. H. Starr. This act was carried out under provisions of Project 6-D.
These animals are said to propagate rapidly and the pelts bring high prices. It is intended to introduce a new industry in Hancock county, where trappers may make good money.
State Commissioner W. H. Starr spoke enthusiastically of the project and said it would prove quite a boon and as a new trapping industry of procuring pelts for the fine beaver fur.

Mr. Ansley when interviewed at his home on Carroll avenue stated that he was born in Midway, Alabama, in July 1875 and had been brought to Bay St. Louis by his parents when his father was made roadmaster for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad here and attended the schools here.
Mr. Ansley worked for five years as clerk for the roadmaster and lived for a while in Ocean Springs, and was employed in various capacities by the railroad. He was also county surveyor for several years.
Mr. Ansley began work with the Stokoe Lee and Power Plant for whom he was employed until they sold out to the Mississippi Power Company and in September 1925 moved their offices from the building located on Blaise avenue and presently owned and operated by Mr. H. Sumrall into the building occupied by the present Gem Cafe, when he was made local manager and in which capacity he remained until his retirement a few weeks ago.
Mr. Ansley served the Company in this capacity and saw the business expand and on numerous occasions was complimented highly by officials of the company.
Mr. Ansley is the father of thirteen children, eight of whom are living. They are Luther Ansley, Jr., who is employed and living in Chat-ham, N. Mayor Blaise and his crew of workmen plan on starting city-wide clean up this coming week.
Mr. Ed Orrie of the county board of supervisors is seeing that the territory outside the city limits is being cleaned up. Already the highway has been gone over and the grasses on the beach front will soon be cut. Anyone in Waveland wishing a city truck to carry away rubbish is asked to get in touch with Mr. Orrie.
The city will provide a truck and driver, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Mar. 10-12 for the purpose of collecting rubbish. Anyone wishing the truck to collect any refuse may call the city hall.

MR. ANSLEY RETIRES.

AFTER long years of continuous service as resident manager for the Mississippi Power Company, M. Luther Ansley retires and with the compliments and best wishes of the company. He had served well and over an unusually long period.

Such men in service like Mr. Ansley are few and far between. A man of ability and conscientious in his every endeavor, he has served the company without interruption well and it might be said to the superlative degree.

An outstanding citizen he has proven a true representative and serving the public is no easy task. That it can be done, however, has well been proven in this case. A man of unquestioned integrity, well qualified as a manager and serving one and all in satisfactory manner, are all qualifications combined rare indeed.

Mr. Ansley has not only the best wishes of the company he has served so well, but the best wishes of the community.

The demands of his office are many and as time goes on and the expansion of the city demands constant service and time, the demands of such executor continue more exacting and difficult. And after serving diligently and over so long a period it becomes but proper that he have more time for himself and that the demands be lessened whereby he may enjoy the period of increasing years with more leisure and time he may call his own.

BATTLESHIPS.

THE United States battle fleet will be strengthened very shortly by the addition of the new 35,000-ton battleship Washington and North Carolina.

The North Carolina will be commissioned in April and the Washington in May. Both carry nine 16-inch guns, mounted three to a turret and have heavy batteries of anti-aircraft and secondary broadside guns.

It is interesting that these ships will be in service within less than three years from the day their keels were laid. Usually, it requires four years to construct a battleship.

In addition to these ships the Navy will be strengthened by the addition of four other 35,000-ton battleships in 1942. Afterwards will come the 45,000-ton ships and then those that are to be even larger.

FOR GREEK RELIEF.

THE Greek nation has acquitted itself in noble fashion in the contest precipitated by Mussolini's attack upon the smaller country.

One of the most remarkable wars of history is being bitterly contested on the mountainous terrain of Albania and Greek soldiers are behaving in a manner to make one recall Marathon and Salamis.

There has been much suffering which could be alleviated if Americans generally will make liberal contributions to the cause of Greek relief. In many towns and cities a committee has been formed for the purpose of securing these contributions but if there is none available to you, just send in your donation to the Greek War Relief Committee, 730 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

"TIRED OF GOING TO SCHOOL."

A FIFTEEN-year-old Mississippi school boy confesses that he set fire to a high school building because he was "tired of going to school."

Most students, we suspect, get tired of going to school but few of them express their aversion by trying to burn down the building although many of them enjoy a secret hope that a sudden blaze will cause a general holiday.

The incident might correct the idea that some parents have that modern schooling is "tame" and that about all the boys and girls learn is how to date, ride in automobiles, play and join societies.

The lease-lend bill has been before Congress since January 10th; maybe something will happen to it before the end of the war.

Returning the courtesy extended Lord Halifax by President Roosevelt, who sailed out into Chesapeake Bay to meet the British ambassador, King George of England went half way across England to meet the new U. S. ambassador to Britain, John G. Winant.

Baled cotton for air-raid shelters is being urged by an American engineer. A 7-foot thickness of cotton would resist a 6,000-pound bomb falling from a distance of 30,000 feet, whereas a 2,000-pound bomb dropped from half that distance would penetrate a 6-foot thickness of concrete.

A 5,200 cut in the rolls of the WPA has been announced by Roland Wall. The March quota has been fixed at 24,800 as compared with 40,000 on the rolls during February. The decrease is due to increased job opportunities during the spring and summer months and a decrease in funds, Wall stated.

Plans for a state organization to establish an office in Washington for the purpose of securing a share of defense spending for Mississippi were made in Jackson. Gov. Johnson will be asked to obtain $20,000 state funds for the operation of the office. Many other states are maintaining such lobbies in the capital.

FLOWERS THAT LIVE.

A CITIZEN passed away recently and the entire community paid his memory tribute. It was a unanimous expression of sympathy for the bereaved family and recognition of the wide-spread good this one person had rendered in charity that knew no bounds.

This man did not seek praise nor the fleeting vanities that appeal to the average person; he did not seek the adulation of his fellowmen that came to him who would seek popularity and gain for himself the plaudits of the masses, but, on the contrary, he was content with the things that gave him the satisfaction of doing good. Refusing no one aid, assisting the needy and afflicted and at no time turning a deaf ear to charity.

This truly was a full life. One of many deeds daily performed, and such example left to the community is a heritage not to be lost. It is by pattern of the lives of others we gain full well. And in this instance we have a pattern that will serve.

This man gave substantial aid; well did he distribute the flowers contributing happiness to others and that he in turn, symbolic as it is, received among the many tributes, well highlights of the real flowers, all significant and expressive.

While these were flowers that fade and die away, the first-mentioned kind, however, remain alive. The real rose their fragrance, but the others ever remain sweet in the hearts and minds of those who profited by the life of a good man.

BRITAIN'S CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH.

WHILE the danger of epidemic winter diseases has, of course, not entirely passed, Britain's doctors give the country an extraordinary clean bill of health. The January figures for London and 126 large towns (total population, 20 million) are highly satisfactory. Compared with the corresponding statistics of last year, gripe deaths are lower, typhoid unchanged, diphtheria slightly higher but barely above the 1938 level. Deaths from all causes, including air-raids, are 20 per cent below those of 1940.

The doctors, too, report a major defeat to the Luftwaffe's attempt to wreck the nerves of the people. Some time ago 7 clinics were established for the treatment of nervous disorders due to air-raids, but less than 25 cases have been treated monthly. "The number actually decreased when the raids began," stated Sir Wilson Jameson, medical officer to the Ministry of Health. Only 5 per cent of the persons incapacitated by bombing suffered from shock and the majority of these recovered quickly, are back at work in a few days. In December the number of persons thus affected was considerably lower than in September; after Coventry there has not been a single case of neurosis. Family doctors have found a small number of cases of "jitters," but usually the nervous conditions were apparent before the war began.

BAY ST. LOUIS SCOUTS.

THERE is no organized body of youth in our locality that proves of more worth and activity than our several troops of boy and girls scouts. We doubt if any city the size of Bay St. Louis may boast of the like.

It is well to note that the various troops are not merely in name, but in the most active existence, each well living up to the many exactitudes of organization, but each engaged in some form of special work. The idea is to acquire results. And in that our troops are signally successful.

Bay St. Louis is justly proud of its various organizations. That has been stated in these columns in more instances than once. And how well such orders continue and their permanency remains for more and greater service.

It might be well to note here that Bay St. Louis has five troops in all—two boys' and two girls' and in addition a sea scout band.

These scouts are an honor to the community. May its members continue in their fine work and may they enjoy the fruits of such bands as they are due to in later life, to be men and women worth while.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT SALES TAX?

IT IS forecast that the Treasury will not offer any new tax proposals until late Spring. By then, it should have a fairly good idea of rearmament, is going to cost, and how much of the total it is advisable to pay for as we go.

Higher direct and indirect taxes are, of course, considered inevitable in informed circles. That means further upping of the income tax rate in all brackets and perhaps further lowering of exemptions. It also may mean new taxes on commodities, to be collected at the source rather than from the consumer.

The sales tax has many supporters. So far, this tax has been opposed by the Administration, but some feel that it will eventually be accepted as a matter of necessity. State sales taxes have proven tremendous and revenue producers. A national sales tax should go a long way toward meeting the arms bill.

ABOUT OBSCENE MAGAZINES.

THE general idea that metropolitan cities are willing to stand for anything is reputed by the effort being made by officials of the city of New York to eliminate the sale of obscene magazines.

Last summer Mayor LaGuardia banned certain magazines from sale and a strong campaign is underway to prevent the sale of objectionable magazines. If anybody has any doubt about the existence of these filthy, trashy productions, all that is necessary is a visit to a well-stocked news-stand.

King Solomon's treasure houses never held so much riches as is buried in the United States' vaults at Ft. Knox, Kentucky. The gold has been melted down into bars and is locked into bomb-proof underground vaults. An additional 8 and a half billion dollars' worth of the yellow metal was moved to Ft. Knox last week, bringing the total up to 14 billions.

Mussolini's explanation of his army's difficulties in Albania sounded like Greek to us.

Hollywood Echoes.

A RECORD price was recently paid by Paramount for the screen rights to "Lady in the Dark," the current Broadway success by Moss Hart, Kurt Weill and Ira Gershwin, in which Gertrude Lawrence is starred. The $283,000 they are reported to have paid tops the estimated $275,000 which Warners paid for George S. Kaufman-Moss Hart play, "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

However, other plays have been purchased for what seems to the average person "fabulous" sums. Warners paid the producers and others interested $175,000 plus a percentage of the film's gross for the filming rights to "Arsenic and Old Lace"; Metro paid $130,000 for "Panama Hattie."

The $250,000 which Paramount paid for "Abie's Irish Rose," in 1933 long set the pace for play purchases by the movies. Record prices for plays in recent years include $200,000 for "You Can't Take It With You"; $200,000 for "Hellzapoppin"; $225,000 for "Rough Service"; and $200,000, plus a royalty payment to Jack Kirkland, producer, for "Tobacco Road."

Ernest Hemingway has selected Gary Cooper and Ingrid Bergman for the roles of Robert Jordan and Maria in the screen version of his novel, "For Whom the Bell Tolls." As neither of these players is under contract to Paramount, negotiations will have to be made to borrow them for this production.

Rosalind Russell has been given the role formerly assigned to Hedy Lamarr opposite Clark Gable in "The Uniform," a story which deals with a British officer turned confidence man. The change was made because of illness.

Stirling Hayden, up and coming young actor, who has been assigned the lead opposite Dorothy Lamour in "Dilda Cay," in roles originally scheduled for Madeline Carroll and Fred MacMurray.

Ann Harding, who retired from the screen several years ago, is back again in Hollywood and has a part in a film entitled, "Black Cat."

Little Joan Leslie, 16-year-old ingenue, has been named as Gary Cooper's leading lady in "Sergeant York." She will appear first as his sweetheart, then as his wife. Joan has had roles in four pictures at Warners, of which only "High Sierra" has been released.

Anne Shirley, another young actress who has been absent from the screen for some months, is to have the feminine lead in "Little Miss Muffitt," in which Little Carolyn Lee will also appear.

Fox plans another outdoor epic this year—"Lewis and Clark"—in color, with Randolph Scott and Dean Jagger costarred. The story will be based on the 1804-06 exploring expedition of these men into the American Northwest.

In her role in "Pioneer Woman," Barbara Stanwyck first appears as sweet 16, and then ages, as the picture goes on, until finally she is seen at 100 years old. It's quite a work-out for the make-up artists.

DeLisle Congregation Hears Lenten Sermon By Father Hennessey.

Before a large audience Father Hennessey an eloquent preacher of the Little Flower church at Gulfport, delivered Monday night at the Catholic church at DeLisle an able and practical sermon. He insisted that Lent was a time of grace and that maybe for some it will be the last. The time of reckoning is coming so do not reject this great opportunity for the salvation of your soul.

After the sermon he blessed the new $200.00 statue given to the church at DeLisle through the extension Society of Chicago. He congratulated the congregation for having such a rare gift and to have always recourse to our Heavenly mother who is infinitely superior in her love to our earthly mother and this statue of Our Lady of Perpetual Help will make, not only this generation but also the coming ones remember to pray to the Blessed Virgin for her help in securing our salvation.

LITTLE SCHOOLHOUSE AT THE END OF THE LANE.

Dear little school house at the end of the lane,
About five miles from the one daily train.

In dreams I go back, and I'm with you tonight
Just dreaming and pondering while the stars are bright.

Dreaming of my little schoolmates so sweet,
And hoping and praying that some day we'll meet.

Dear little schoolhouse so tattered and torn,
With no pretty pictures your walls to adorn.

I just wouldn't want you any other way,
And I don't care what people may say.

You're beautiful to me, tho' they think you're plain.
I love you, little schoolhouse at the end of the lane.

Personal and General

PRETTY girls and gracious hosts were helping Natchez live up to the motto "Where the Old South Still Lives" Monday as they entertained thousands of visitors there for the 10th annual pilgrimage.

The pilgrimage garden club is sponsoring tours of old mansions and gardens, beginning yesterday and continuing through March 23. Another organization, the Natchez Garden Club, will sponsor a similar event March 22 thru April 6.

Azaleas, camellias and other flowers were in bloom as the visitors were shown through the old estates and homes many of them containing fine collections of antique furniture, china, silver and paintings, and occupied by descendants of the original owners.

Confederate balls and tableaux, with local residents in uniforms and gowns of the War Between the States period, will alternate nightly with a spiritual allegory, "Road to Glory," in a Negro church.

HOSTESSES GIVE LUNCHEON-BRIDGE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Mrs. Clemence Jaubert Chadwick and Mrs. John W. Bryan were joint hostesses at Hotel Reed Wednesday to one of the loveliest luncheons of the season, the table for twelve covered unusually attractive and tasty with the color of St. Patrick as the shade for decoration.

This luncheon and bridge following was given in compliment to Mrs. Charles G. Moreau on the occasion of her birthday.

Cocktails were served prior to the luncheon, after which messages of congratulations were voiced and many packages that had accumulated and other presents brought by the guests were opened. These gave evidence of thought and selection and were unusually attractive.

Cut flowers served for the floral decorations, sweet pea and carnations decorating the table.

The guests, in addition to Mrs. Bryan, Mrs. Chadwick and Mrs. Moreau were Mrs. Edouard C. Carriere, Mrs. H. C. Glover, Mrs. Leo E. Kenney, Mrs. Lucien M. Gex, Mrs. H. P. Burbank, Mrs. N. M. Dick, Mrs. L. S. Elliott, Miss Marie E. Bertrand, of Pass Christian.

Contract bridge consumed the balance of the afternoon and time fleet-ed all too quickly.

MOVE INTO NEW HOME ON THE BEACH.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. V. Holzer have moved into their recently completed home on the Waveland beach. The home is one of the most attractive erected lately, and the grounds are presently being planted and landscaped. An attractive keeper's cottage and several garages and poultry houses have also been erected, all in most modern style and painted white with green trimmings, and through the grounds, a small lagoon and winding stream are bridged with a rustic bridge, and a large number of white ducks are being raised. The Holzer property, most of which cannot be seen from the beach because of its height, is deep and the grounds promise to be one of the beauty spots of the Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wolfe and children, Jane, Jack and J. T. Jr., motored to New Orleans on last Sunday, and visited with relatives for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. J. Arceneaux had a number of guests over last week-end at their home on Court street when Mrs. Arceneaux's mother and sisters motored here for a visit with them. Personal and General News Notes of the Week From Sister City and Vicinity.

MRS. Anthony Robito entertained the young folks at a lovely party on Monday evening the occasion being the seventeenth birthday of her daughter, Dorothy. Delicious punch and cake was served. Dancing was enjoyed. Mrs. Robito was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Dan Chadwick and Mrs. R. Goelzenleuchter.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernhardt of New Orleans former residents of Waveland were here during the week.

Rev. Father Costello has announced Lenten Services for St. Claire's church for Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Sermon and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament; on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be the Way of the Cross.

The weather man was exceptionally kind to us on Tuesday giving us a sample of such delightful balmy spring weather, and many were seen sporting summer clothes, however we were disappointed to find on Wednesday morning that the weather had changed over night and although a stiff cold breeze was blowing and winter wraps were back in use.

Mr. A. T. Morgan, N. O. Item representative from Gulfport was a business visitor on Monday.

Mrs. R. Goelzenleuchter and daughter, Margie, have returned from New Orleans where they went for Carnival holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carver of Coleman avenue had a number of guests over for the week-end.

News received here this week conveyed the information that Mrs. Ora Pollard, former resident of Bay St. Louis and later of Waveland, now hostess at a hotel in Philadelphia, Pa., sustained severe injuries recently when she fell in the hotel where she is employed. Mrs. Pollard's condition is reported improved and as early as she is able to travel she plans to return to visit her mother, Mrs. Miller, on Jeff Davis avenue. She is a sister of the secretary of the town of Waveland, Mr. Frank Miller. Her son, "Bobbie" is at Camp Blanding, Ga., with the selectees.
